The Story of Zarah Leander
– The biggest Star in Nazi Germany

Director: Eric Michael Gillett • Script: James Beaman, Eric Michael Gillett & Olivia Stevens

The Swedish actress Zarah Leander was the biggest star in the Third Reich and a controversial favourite of Hitler and Goebbels. Her films were box-office successes beyond the German borders and her record sales made her millions. Then in 1943, she faced a choice that would alter her life forever. This sparkling and riveting show portrays a woman torn between artistry and politics, who was both idolized and hated – and whose songs remain unforgettable to this day.
